[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]
BRAYES FIELD, Boston, Oct. 12.—"Ernie" Shore came back today and placed his name among the winning pitchers of the series when he out-pitched George Chalmers in another great battle of moundmen. It was another tight game like that of yesterday and 41,096 spectators cheered the young twirler on to victory.

Boston had the game well in hand until the eighth inning when the Quakers scored when Fred Luderus hit safely. In no other inning did the Phillies threaten although a single or double at times would have scored a runner. The final score was Boston 2, Philadelphia 1.

The stands were again packed when Philadelphia took their place at bat in the first inning. Pat Moran selected George Chalmers and Carrigan decided between Ruth and Shore and picked the latter. Shore had been beaten in the first game and asked for a chance to win. The big right-hander warmed up to the satisfaction of the Boston base and was sent into the box to stop the Quakers.

Both Shore and Chalmers worked well for the first two innings and the fans were expecting another pitching battle. Shore was working the corners and held the Quakers safe. In the last of the third Boston hit safely and scored. For the next two innings both pitchers were sending the batters back to the bench. Philadelphia weakened in the sixth and the second run of the day came in.

In the eighth Luderus started the fireworks for the Quakers and the first run of the day for Philadelphia was scored. Then Boston came to bat in their half and sent two men to first. The next man went out and one walked. There were three men on the bases, one out and Larry Gardner at the bat. A hit meant a certain victory for Boston but Gardner slammed the ball down to the infield and the Quaker inner works spoiled a score with a fast double play. Philadelphia could not score in the ninth and Boston had won three straight games.

Shore and "Duffy" Lewis were the Boston stars. Throughout the game the Red Sox pitcher remained cool and was pitching good ball in every inning. He kept his hits well scattered and was master of the situation at all times. Lewis was the star defensive player. On many occasions he stopped a Quaker attempt to score by remarkable fielding.

Fred Luderus, the big first baseman of the Quakers, was the real hitting star of the day. He started rallies on two occasions with his hits, and in four times at bat annexed three safe hits off Shore. Boston hit at opportune moments today, which gave them the victory over the Nationals. Neither pitcher showed the control that has been a feature in the games thus far, and Shore walked four, while Chalmers sent three runners to first via the pass route. Chalmers fanned six Red Sox, and Shore struck out four.

Tomorrow's game will be played in Philadelphia, and Moran will in all probability send Alexander into the breach to stem the tide. A victory for the Red Sox tomorrow means the winning of the series, and both managers will be out to send their best pitchers into the box. Carrigan has not used "Babe" Ruth as yet, and the southpaw may be given an opportunity to stop the Phillies in the game at Philadelphia.

Tom Mahalo, who had formed the pleasant habit of walking off with one suit of clothes while the clerk of a store was getting another for him to price, and who was up before the police court this morning on five charges of petty larceny, pleaded guilty to all five and was sentenced three months and costs for each charge, making a total sentence of 15 months in jail.

INFIELD STARS WHO HAVE HELPED PHILLIES

Above—Dave Bancroft, the young star of the Phillies, has been playing sensational ball in the field though not hitting up to his regular season form. Fred Luderus, the veteran first-sacker, was the batting star of today's game and has helped the Phillies set their wonderful record of fast fielding for the series to date.

NIECE OF GREAT BRITISHER TOURS WORLD INCOGNITO

Two Young English Girls Arrive at Honolulu, Traveling Under Assumed Names

Traveling incognito as "Miss H. E. Halliday" and "Miss Edna Salter," two young British girls who are making a tour of the world arrived today on the Matsonia. One of the young ladies is a niece of one of the best known members of the British cabinet, and the father of the other is said to hold a rich estate in north Ireland.

"Oh, no, we could not tell our names," one of the young ladies said. "We simply wanted to travel, and all the men are at war, so we came alone. We simply wanted to see the world and here we are."

"We have had a simply extraordinary time. First, we saw Scotland and Ireland. We were booked to New York on the Lusitania, but she was torpedoed on her way to England and we had therefore to seek another boat. We traveled over Canada and the eastern states and through the Panama Canal from San Francisco. Difficulties held our boat, the 'Kronland,' 10 days and just after we passed through another slide. I have read, blocked the canal. We are always just in time to be lucky."

"Honolulu is delightful. We had intended not to stay long, but since landing we have decided to remain until Christmas, when we will leave for Japan, China and India. After that we have no definite plans, only to continue to travel. Sometimes we are criticized for traveling without a chaperone, but it really makes no difference. Everyone has been very courteous and we are having a splendid time."

While several passengers on the Matsonia accidentally discovered the identity of the adventurous girls, they would not give their names for publication.

FOURTEEN NEW COMPANIES OF GUARD FORMED

Big Island Now Has Separate Regiment and is Ablaze With Enthusiasm, Says Johnson

Fourteen new national guard companies on Hawaii, of 30 men each. This is the result of Col. Samuel L. Johnson's visit to the Big Island. The adjutant-general returned today and this afternoon gave out the above statement. A detailed report of the results of his trip was presented to Governor Lucius B. Pinkham late this afternoon.

This makes the colonel's dream of a second national guard regiment on Hawaii a reality. Equipment to supply 12 of the 14 new companies will be shipped to the Big Island next week and will be followed by equipment for the remaining two. The new regiment is separate and distinct from the 1st Regiment, formed on Oahu.

Of the 14 companies, all but one are infantry. That one is the machine company at Hilo. "Each of the companies averages 30 men," said Col. Johnson this afternoon. "I never saw so much enthusiasm over the National Guard of Hawaii in all my life as there is right now on the Big Island. They want work, and they are going to get it."

WILL ALLOW F-4 TO ROT IN MUD WHERE SHE LIES

Plan for Sinking Wreck of Submarine in Deep Water is Not Given Approval

The F-4 will rot in the mud bank she is now occupying at Pearl Harbor. Lieut.-cmdr. J. A. Furer, who raised the ill-fated submarine, gave out this information this afternoon, just before he sailed on the Manoa for San Francisco en route to Washington.

"I had a plan for sinking the boat," said Lieut.-cmdr. Furer, "which I sent to the navy department in the report of the board of inspection and survey appointed to decide what to do with the dismantled wreck. My recommendations have not been approved. Had they been we should have heard from the navy department long since."

The naval constructor said that next week the six pontoons which support the F-4 to the surface will be detached from the wreck and moved on skids to dry land, where they will be left until needed perhaps in the future for salvage of one kind or another.

Mr. Furer said he believes the F-4 will be allowed to remain in the mud bank where she has been lying since she was towed to Pearl Harbor after the naval board of inquiry finished examining her here.

F. L. HOOGS AND LOUIS ABRAMS

Each Pleads Guilty to Embezzlement Charge and is Fined $1000 and Costs of Case

CITY ATTORNEY MAKES NO PLEA FOR LENIENCY

Special Committee of Grand Jury Urged Light Sentences, Declares Judge Ashford

Louis Abrams, guilty of embezzlement, fined $1000 and costs. Frank L. Hoogs, guilty of embezzlement, fined $1000 and costs.

The pleas of friends of the defendants, as well as the suggestion of a special committee of the territorial grand jury, were among the motives which led Circuit Judge Ashford to exert leniency today when he sentenced Frank L. Hoogs, former teller of the Bank of Hawaii, and Louis Abrams, secretary and a director of the Hawaiian Trust Company, to each pay a fine of $1000 and the costs of the court, for embezzlement.

In a lengthy address from the bench, prior to pronouncing sentence, Judge Ashford stated that he had been flattered on several occasions by well-known local residents who pleaded for leniency for both Hoogs and Abrams. A special committee of the grand jury also visited the judge, he said, and recommended leniency.

The judge referred to his lengthy friendship with Abrams and with Hoogs' father. "This duty is a tremendously heavy one," the court declared before pronouncing sentence, "but it is a duty which I have no right to shrink from."

"The fact that you have been convicted of this offense is, to my mind, a punishment more deep than any which might be imposed by this court," Judge Ashford added.

Hoogs and Abrams, when arraigned before Judge Ashford shortly after 1:30 o'clock, entered pleas of guilty. Hoogs was represented by Attorney Fred W. Milverton and Abrams by Attorney Robert Brockman.

While it was rumored that the prosecution might ask for leniency in both cases from the fact that Hoogs voluntarily returned to Honolulu following his arrest in California, and from the fact that Abrams, when notified of an alleged shortage in his accounts, returned immediately to Honolulu from the coast with the statement that he could explain and make right any and all of the alleged shortages, no steps in this direction were taken by City Attorney A. M. Brown today. Prior to the pronouncing of sentence, Mr. Brown was asked for a statement by the court. He replied that he had nothing to say.

But few remarks were made by the attorneys for the defendants when Hoogs and Abrams were asked if they had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. Each Had Money Ready.

Hoogs and Abrams both were sentenced to pay a fine of $1000 and the costs of the court. The costs, in each case, amounted to $3.50. Hoogs' fine was paid in currency. William Hoogs, his brother, to Clerk Henry Smith of the circuit court. Abrams paid his own fine, also in currency.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—It is learned here that a quiet investigation is being carried on as to the circumstances surrounding the use purposed for several yachts in the Gulf of California, at Norfolk, Va., and Pensacola, Fla. British agents suspect that the yachts are being outfitted by Germans to use against ships carrying oil from Mexico for the British navy.

Charges have been made that the officers of the two interned auxiliary cruisers at Norfolk are active in the plan, also claims are made that stations have been established in the West Indies by Germans for outfitting purposes.
